

LA SOLANA

concept design by Bryce Buckley

A Spanish Mission Revival that embodies warmth and timeless character, La Solana reflects the classic charm of California's early 20th-century architectural roots. At 1,650 square feet, with 3 bedrooms and 2 bathrooms, La Solana balances historic appeal with modern livability. White stucco walls and gently curved terracotta tile roofs frame an inviting silhouette, while the intimate inner courtyard and front entrance patio provide serene, sunlit spaces for quiet mornings or evening gatherings. La Solana offers enduring elegance and a deep connection to Altadena's architectural heritage.
