

mid-century contemporary (square)

This midcentury home offers a calm, efficient, and thoughtfully designed place to rebuild or begin anew. Clean lines, a beautiful yet simple façade, and durable materials reflect Altadena's architectural character while keeping construction practical and cost-effective.

The two-bedroom, two-bathroom layout centers on an open kitchen and living space designed for everyday family life and easy gathering. Tongue-and-groove ceilings and interior cinder block walls add warmth, texture, and long-term durability, balancing modern design with timeless simplicity.

Designed with livability in mind, this home provides a comfortable, flexible living environment well suited for families returning to Altadena or new homeowners building on a clean lot.
